THE SCHOOL CENSUS.

There is some expressed discontent that the school census report for this city should fall off some 1,500 from the returns of last year. Without examining the books, but considering the hot protests of but when church bodies declare upon questhe Census Marshals that they have made tions of policy for the establishment o a faithful canvass, we are inclined to be-sobriety they open the door for public critlieve that there is little if any falling off icism. If the churches really wish to whatever. Heretofore the Marshals have been paid according to the number of names returned, and it is an open secret that in all the past years the Marshals have been urged to enroll all they possibly could, that the sum to be apportioned to Sacramento by the State might be correspondingly large. We know of cases in which in that interest Marshals have stretched their instructions and the law to the fartherest limits, in order to make a good showing. It was true not only in Sacramento, but in San Francisco, where it appears there has also been a large apparent falling off in the number of school demonstrates, we think, the wisdom of the new law providing that the Census Marshals shall not be paid per capita on the number of names reported, but by the day, and be limited to a given number of days in which to complete their work. Now, since no one is at all interested in not having the census children in every household enrolled in the statistics of the school department, and as the enrollment cannot affect the parent or guardian except, to lessen his local tax, it will not be difficult to ascertain if any considerable number of children between the ages of five and seventeen have been omitted from the enrollment by the Marshals and if a new enrollment is necessary. To that end we invite all parents or guardians to notify us by postal card, or otherwise, at once of any cases in which they have reason to believe the enrollment faulty; any instances in which children between the ages stated have not been enrolled. In all such cases reported to us we will examine the records and ascertain if there really is error. If it should turn out that in a city like Sacramento, where it is so very easy to find every residence and every household, or gain news of them, so many as 100 names have been omitted, then it will be reasonable to suppose that the work of enumeration has been poorly done. If after this opportunity to detect error there shall not be discovered more than a dozen errors, it will be justifiable to conclude that here-

WHATEVER may be said of the means to violence; whatever abhorrence we may have of lynch law, and the license that commits to any one man the power to act as judge, jury and executioner, we cannot raise an outcry against the swift justice that overtook the robbers of the dead at Johnstown. Though the means of justice were unlawful, the judgment of mankind will be that they were pardonable. Under the circumstances, with the means of confinement of prisoners destroyed, the horrors of the situation augmenting, the loved dead as yet unrecovered, the law in abeyance, the authorities powerless, it is not at all surprising that the men of Johnstown ould seize and string up without shrift or pa 'ayer, the ghouls who were detected mutilat, ing the corpses that strew the valley of the Conemaugh, in fiendish search for jes els and articles of personal adornment. Citizen would be less than men if they had failed to strike down every wretch who thus confessed himself brute and inhuman. The case may be likened to that of one who discovers a thief entering the death-room where his beloved lies waiting for the grave, and hewing off limb and feature in order to secure the gold that encircled the finger, or the gem that glistened in the ear. The man who, under such circumstances, would parley with the fiend would be despised of all his fellows.

and hotly opposed the action, but could not secure its reconsideration. The mos he could do was to have the declaration so modified that the Assembly was made to say that its declaration is not announcing allegiance to, or support of any political

One Thousand Sent On-Acknowledgment-Further Appeal-A Benefit.

The voluntary contributions of the people continued to come into our counting-room yesterday to swell the relief fund for the Pennsylvania sufferers. Just before the close of bank hours the business department of the Record-Union telegraphed of the contributions of the people $500 more to Governor Beaver, making $1,000 sent on free of charge by the courtesy of the National Gold Bank of D. O. Mills.

THE CONTRIBUTIONS. The sums contributed and paid in up to the close of our report yesterday aggregated $723 50. Yesterday there was paid in $659 58. The following are the addi-

It is very much desired to send on five hundred dollars more to-day. The contribution list will be found on the counter of the RECORD-UNION business office, where all who choose can place the amount, great or small, they are disposed to give. There is still urgent demand for help, and there need be no fear of too much money being sent on. In the last dispatched $500 Gov ernor Beaver was not limited to Johnstown sufferers in its disbursement, but was asked to apply it to Pennsylvania sufferers by the flood, thus leaving it to his discretion. The dispatches show that other places as well as Johnstown have suffered, and thousands of other people are homeless, penniless and without food because of the great disaster. Last evening the RECORD-UNION received from Harrisburg, from Governor Beaver's Secretary, a telegram of thanks to the people of Sacramento acknowledging receipt of the first five hundred dollars forwarded.

"A thousand thanks for the five hundred dollar for relief fund just received." It should not be necessary to urge the people of Sacramento to swell the citizens' fund still more. Let it not stop at $1,500, nor at $2,000, nor at all, so long as Governor Beaver does not notify us that there is no further need for help. The RECORD-UNION undertakes to ascertain and report to the people in what direction their money is used. Governor Beaver is a man of wise discretion and high character, and implicit confidence can be reposed in his ad-ministration of Sacramento's fund so that it will accomplish the utmost good and rebe sent upon the street—those who give must come to the place of deposit and write the record of their charity. There are scores of our citizens who are able and the street who are able and the street who are scores of our citizens who are able and the street who are able and the street was discussed that involves great financial benefit for the Art Gallery and its popularization throughout the United States. Woodson Brothers will print all the tickets free and have them ready to-day. F. E. Foote will fur nish the calcium lights, and others will ac as ushers and aids, so that there will no be a dollar of expense incurred.

Mention has been made of a view of Johnstown on exhibition in a down-town store window, and which attracted mu attention. Another view and somewhat larger has been placed in the window of Hale Brothers & Co., corner of Ninth and K streets, and is the center of a great deal

St. Rose Church Picnic.

To-morrow the annual picnic of St. Rose Church will be held. Leet's beautiful grove, near Roseville, has been selected tor the occasion, and every possible arrangement made for the comfort and pleasure of all that attend. The First Artillery band will discourse music on the way and for the dancers. Tickets, including fare, $1 children from five to ten years, 50 cents.

The School Census. In another column appears a call upon parents and guardians whose children or wards have not been enrolled to notify the RECORD-UNION of such omission (if any have occurred). The falling off in the present enrollment from that of last year must be accountable for in some manner, and there is a general desire to get at the Bell's Auction Sales.

Bell & Co. will sell to-day at 10 o'clock, at their salesroom, 927 K street, the west half of lot 6, P and Q. Thirteenth and Fourteenth streets, with improvements.

The Mail says: Alexander Sullivan will probably be placed behind the bars before the day is over for alleged conspiracy in the foul assassination of Dr. Cronin. Had the jury retired last night with what little testimony they had, it was almost certain they would have recommended the arrest of Sullivan. Other arrests are also expected to be made. The names are gained from the contents of private papers of the doctor. Who these suspects are the authorities refuse to say.

WOODBUFF TURNS STATE'S EVIDENCE. It is reported that Frank Woodruff, who drove the rig in which Cronin's body was hauled to Catch Basin has turned State's evidence, and will testify before the Coroner's jury. Woodruff's confession, it said, connects P. O. Sullivan so closely with the crime that escape seems impossible He will swear that Sullivan is the man who paid him for sneaking the wagon and horse from Dean's livery stable.

During the inquest Police Captain Schack, who was on the witness stand, had testified as to the investigations which followed the arrest of Woodruff for horse stealing, and retold the whole of Wood-ruff's varied stories about the men whom he claimed were named King and Fairbarn and the carrying off of the woman's body in a trunk. When the Captain was asked the day the Grand Jury was in session on this case, and we went together into a prisay that there were a good many things he had not told about the case, and continued by saying that he was in a saloon one afternoon with King and Fairburn, when a strange man entered and took King aside. They went out together and the strange man left them at the door. When he had gone, Wooodruff said he asked King who it was, and King said :

"THAT IS LAWYER ALEX SULLIVAN." Captain Schaack added, in reply to a juror's destion, that the next day after Woodruff had been indicted for horse stealing, he sent word he would not talk any more. ly News says this evening that Woodruff this morning declared: "I ain't going to get the worst of it, although there trying to give it to me. WOOL—For desirable Wools there is fair demand, with steady tone to values. Samples of Humboldt and Mendocino clip are being submitted, though no arrivals of consequence have yet come to heard. Desirable, San Jesusin and whited, though no arrivals of consequence have yet come to hand. De-irable San Joaquin and Middle county stock has been reduced to small proportions. Bright Oregon Wools receive full share of attention, but there is no great amount of this class of stock offering at the moment. Much of the Eastern Oregon product is dusty and heavy and apprehiments. press matters. It was hoped that imports from and heavy and anything but attractive. We north were over for the season, but such is quote:

Humboldt and Mendocino ..... Eastern Oregon-FRESH MEATS—There are no marked changes FRESH MEATS—There are no marked changes in prices. Supplies of all kinds are ample. The prospect is favorable for easy quotations for a time, as the demand will be less, owing to many families going into the country for the usual summer vacation. A BALANCE IN HER FAVOR. Once in a while Mary loses a little time, but she always keeps her Sapolio handy, and with Sapolio's aid she readily catches up. "The best assistance is that which is quick." The speed with which SAPOLIO! accomplishes all cleaning is wonderful.
